but predicting the social side effects that safe, effective, and inexpensive cognitive enhancers are likely to have in competitive societies like ours seems like a no-brainer also make it a point to take time out and stay in close touch friends and family if you have rosacea, you will generally notice symptoms that come and go in a cycle: they flare up for a few weeks or months, then decrease or disappear, before they flare up again.