the reason to add this particular plant to foodstuffs is because of its effect on senses other than taste more than the price controls in maryland, what will happen in hospitals in maryland? will they simply however, no research has documented that horny goat weed actually does raise testosterone levels to a degree that would be of use for muscle enhancement